We are happy to have it in our power to state that the rumored illness of Hon. N. P. TALL-MADGE is totally without foundation. A letter written by Gen. T. on Saturday morning states that his health was good, and that the report of his having suffered by an apoplectic attack was entirely ground-

We learn from Cuba that Hon. WILLIS HALL, in company with some friends, was to have embarked from Havana for New-Orleans on the 12th inst. If they did so, we shall probably hear of their arrival in the latter city in a day or two.

The Plebeian says the Locos of Connecticut are very anxious that the Editor of The Tribune should come among them again, to talk on the Tariff. Well, we always like to speak where the People are willing to hear, so we will try to accommodate these inquirers after knowledge. Will The Plebeian and New-Haven Register see fit to copy the following appointments? They may possibly do their cause great service:

HORACE GREELEY will address such citizens of Connecticut as choose to hear him at New-Milford on Thursday afternoon of this week on the arrivat of the Cars from Bridgeport. Also in the evening of that day at Danbury. Also on the next (Friday) evening at New-Haven. Possibly on Saturday night at Hartford, but that is not yet arranged, and more likely will not be, as he is obliged to be at home next day.

N.B. The Plebeian Tracts, No. I. and II. on the Injustice of a Tariff, whether for Revenue or Protection, will be in hand. The iniquities and deceits of the Van Buren Tariff bill, now before against the repeal or modification of the WHIG Congress, will be demonstrated.

Loco-Foco Measures and Measurers .- The favored citizens of this Commonwealth are graciously permitted to pay a pretty round sum for the advantage of having their Flour, Beef, Pork, Leather, Grain, &c. &c. duly 'inspected' and 'measured' for them-so that they may not be cheated! From a recent Report to the Legislature on this subject we compile some interesting

THE BROOKLYN MURDER .- The Coroner's Inquest yesterday entirely substantiates the facts of this case, as reported by us in our paper yesterday morning. The verdict was felonious homicide against Wm. H. Miller.

MR. CLAY AT MACON.-We understand from passingers by last evening's Cars, that Mr. CLAY made an address of an hour and a half's length to the citizens on Monday. It gave the highest possible satisfaction. The utmost enthusiasm prevailed-and such was the concourse of strangers in the city that they could with difficulty find lodgings. On all hands the excitement gathers strength and we expect from appearances yesterday, that our fellow-citizens will get thoroughly warmed up by the time he reaches here, even if the Loco-Focos continue to withhold their countenance. We have the Savannah papers of Thursday morning. Mr. CLAY was to arrive there on the evening of that day.

The announcement of the arrival of Gen. HENDERSON, of Texas, at Washington, seems to have been premature. The Intelligencer of vesterday states that he was momently expected. The story published in a penny paper here about the reception of Mr. H. at the Capital with banners, firing of cannon, processions, &c. &c. is pronounced by the Intelligencer to be an unmitigated hoax.

Dreadful Explosion and Death.

It is our melancholy duty, (says the Petersburg Intelligencer of Saturday,) to record another of those dreadful calamities against which no human foresight can guard. On Friday morning, a locomotive, with a train of thirty-two burden cars, left the depot of the Petersburg and Roanoke road at about 9 o'clock. After passing the first curve on the road it was discovered that one of the cars had got off the track, and the engine was of course immediately stopped-the engineer getting down to see what was the nature of the difficulty. As soon as the car had been placed on the track, the engineer returned to his post and put the engine in motion. No sooner had he done so, than the boiler burst, tearing the engine to atoms and the engineer literally into pieces; at the same time killing a negro man, who was a fireman, and very severely injuring another.

The engineer was a very worthy man, by the name of Smith. The explosion was a tremendous one, having been heard all over town, and producing a shock like that of an earthquake. Fragments of it were blown to a great distance, and one piece of the boiler, weighing at least two hundred pounds was blown more than two hundred yards.

Resolved, That we protest against the attempt that is now making in Congress to repeal the Whig Tariff of 1842.

Because, as a measure of Protection to American Industry, we are fully satisfied with its efficiency and wholesome opera-we are fully satisfied with its efficiency and wholesome operation.

Because, it furnishes revenue enough from imports to meet all the honest expenditures of the Government, and thus prevents a resort to Direct Taxation.

Because, it furnishes to the American Farmer a steady home market for the productions of his soil and labor.

Because no national interest demands its repeal.

Because no national interest demands its repeal.

Because of the millions of consumers and of the nine hundred thousand persons who are engaged in manufactures, and tades in the United States, no one has asked for its repeal.

Because its repeal would utterly destroy the great from interests of Pennsylvania, throw out of employment upwards of twelve thousand hands, and sink ten millions of capital now employed in that business, in this State alone.

Because its repeal would sacrifice our Cottor and Woolen manufacturing interests to those of Great Britain, and flood the country with Foreign Goods, no better in quality and no cheaper in price, than those now furnished by American looms.

Because its repeal would place in jeopardy millions of capilal that have been invested in manufactures since its passage, on the faith of its continuance as the law of the land.

Because it was carefully framed to meet the necessities of Because it was carried in many the country, after laborious and thorough inquiry and investigation—while the bill for its repeal has been hastily gotten up, as a more partisas measure, to propitiate rival candidates.

Because there is weither dignity nor wisdom in that system of legislation, that is continually unsettling the business and of legislation, that is continuarly unsetting the business and commerce of the country.

Because its repeal seems to have been undertaken principally, if not solely, for the purpose of securing the election of Martin Van Buren to the Presidency, who was rejected in 1810 by the united verdict of the people of Twenty States, on the ground of his incompetency and faithlessness.

Because it is the legitimate offspring of that glorious verdict of a free Whig People, who patiently submitted for a pedict of a free Whig People, who patiently submitted for a pedict of a free whigh reserved a series of the patients.

dict of a free W hig reopie, who patiently submitted for a period of near twelve years to a series of experiments on their credit, character and business, which proved disastrous to them and profitable only to those who were in power.

Because, within the short time that it has been in operation, it has revived our commerce, restored the national credit, started new manufactures of various kinds, given employment to thousands whom it found suffering for want of work, established each one markets for the produce of our farms, and lished new home markets for the produce of our farms, and continues daily to strengthen the resources and independence Because it is endeared to us by the recollections of 1840, and is approved by the country as the true policy of a people, who would be prosperous, virtuous and free.—And in gathering now to a greater contest, in which our hearts and our energies ted, we have written it on our banner as the AMER

Trial of William Jones, for the Murder of James Doyle.

The prisoner (a man about 38 or 40 years of age dressed in seamen's apparel) was placed at the bar, charged with the murder of James Doyle, by striking him with stones, on the evening of the 27th September last, of which wounds he died some days afterwards.

Mr. Whiting appeared for the prosecution, and James J. Smith, Jr. for the prisoner.

I first saw prisoner at the North corner of Seuth and Roosevelt streets, at a porter-house. It was the evening before the election by the Democratic party of delegates to Tammany Hall. It was about 9 o'clock in the evening. Doyle and Jones were there. They were neither drunk nor sober. They got sk larking together, and Doyle struck prisoner a little blow with his open hand. Jones fell and struck his side on the corner of a bench, which burt him a little. Doyle said he had a shilling which he had never spent yet, and said "old fellow, come up and drink." They drank together at Doyle's expense. The prisoner told the barkeeper he was going home.—He went out and was gone about 15 minutes, when he returned. Doyle was amusing himself and the company by showing his strength in lifting a chair by the lower rung and holding it at arms length. Jones came to the door runt the stones and threw them at Doyle. Doyle was within a few feet of the door, and nothing between him and the door. He was kneeling down lifting the chair, when Jones came back. Jones, on opening the door, threw 3 stones at Doyle. The first struck him on the forehead—the second he attempted to dodge, and it struck him on the top of the head. The third struck on the floor and boutced, but did not hit him. The stones appeared to be common paving stones. D. Roberts and myself sprung and got hold of Jones. When Jones threw the stones he exclaimed, "dawn you, now I have got you." I said, "suppose you had killed the man." He replied, "I had intended to kill him." I went out to find a watchman, but it was about an hour before I could do so. Jones was then given in charge.

On the cross-examination witness stated that he himself had drank some glasses of gin and sugar, "but he was sober as a judge" when Doyle asked Jones to drink; he at first refused, and said if he wanted any liquor he could buy it. The Mayor assured me to the latter effect.

Richard Gordon confirmed the testimony of the last witness so far as deceased being struck by the stones. He said there were but two stones thrown.

The Jury, after being out about three hours, came in with a declaration that they could not agree. The Foreman asked if the punishment, in case of manslaughter, was at the discretion of the Court. Judge Kent replied, that for the 4th de gree it was so, the punishment being imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding two years, or fine not exceeding $1,000 and imprisonment in the County Jail not exceeding a year. ATWILL'S MUSIC REPOSITORY .- The patronage extended o this establishment this season, is an indication both of he improvement of the public taste and the increased exertions of its enterprising proprietor. His efforts in publi shing the best music in the best manner, and in procuring for his patrons superior instruments at comparatively low prices, have been so successful as to secure for him a business reputation which cannot fail to reward him amply for his past and present exertions. Sand's Sarsafarilla —" The fruit of that forbidden tree" brought disease 10to the world; and it seems a b-autiful and merciful dispensation of Providence, that as through the vegetable kingdom the evil was entailed upon us, its antidote should also be found there. Among the myriads of plants and roots, which "cullers of simples" from Hippocrates to the herbalist of the present day have introduced into the pharacteristic of medicine, there is not one so valuable as Saisa macopoeia of medicine, there is not one so valuable as Sarsa parilla. But nature does not finish all—it is left to science through investigation and experiment to devalope the riches of her bounty. Much of the restorative properties of Sarsa parilla remained unknown, until rendered active by the process of preparation invented by Messrs. Sands. It is now achieved highlight that Sand's Sarsaparallila is not only an infailing cure for all scrofulous and eruptive complaints, but that it may be administered with success in almost all diseases that are not organic in their character. are not organic in their character.

A Serious Matter —It is known to nearly all, who have ever heard of the Magical Pain Extractor that the name was made and copyright by Comstock & Co. of 21 Courtlandt st. and that they made the virtues of the article public at an expense (as proved in the Court of Chancery this month) of from Seven to Ten Thousand Dollars, now I am astonished that any should, for a moment, doubt that said Comstock & Co. do not sell the true article. Let no one forget that I have given them a power of Attorney for Twenty Years irrevocable to do so and use my name. It is out of my power to withdraw that Attorney, the Chancellor has not in any way set aside or broken the contract, and the true with my name set aside or broken the contract, and the true with my name written by myself on it, is always to be had at 21 Courtlandt at at HALF PRICE. JONES' ITALIAN CHEMICAL SOAP -The citizens of New York are informed that this is most infamously counterfeiter by a notorious little Jew; and if they want this most valuable by a notorious little Jew; and it they want this most valuable and excellent medicated article genuine, they can only get it in this City, at the sign of the American Eagle. It has been used with the most blessed issults by hundreds of our critizers in cases of the worst kind, such as Pimples, Blotches, Freckies, Sunburn, Salt Rheum, Scurvy, Erystpelas, and all Emptions and Disfigurements. But remember, always ask for Jones' Italian Chemical Soap-take none without the signature of Fig. 10NES on the wrapper. And if a little Jew attempts to JONES on the wrapper. And if a little Jew attempts to cheat you with a counterfeit, cowhide him; or order your nigger to get it nowhere in this City but at the Sign of the American Eagle, 82 Chatham atreet, or 323 Broadway, and 139 Fulton street, Brooklyn.

SUDDEN CHANGES—There is nothing more trying to the human constitution than sudden changes of atmosphere.—Heat ratifies the blood, quickens the circulation, and increases the perspiration; but when suddenly checked, these humors which pass off by the skin, are thrown inwardly, causing coughs, colds, consumption, difficulty of breathing, watery coughs, coids, consumption, difficulty of oreatning, watery inflamed eyes, sore throat, fevers, rheumatic pains in various parts of the body, and many other complaints, the usual symptoms of catching cold.

Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills are a delightful medicine for carrying off a cold, because they expel from the body those morbid humors, which are the cause, not only of the above complaints, but of every malady incident to man.

complaints, but of every malady incident to man.

Four or five of said Pills, taken every night on going to bed, will in a few days carry off the most obstinate cold; at the same time, the digestive organs will be restored to a healthy tone, and the blood so completely purified that new life and vigor will be given to the whole frame.

Caution.—As counterfeiters are abroad, avoid all stores of a doubtful character, and be particular to ask for Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills.

TRIUMPHANT VINDICATION OF THE POUBRES SUBTILE.— Irresistible Proof —I have had an opportunity of observing the operation of Dr. F. Felix Gonzaud's preparation for the destruction of superfluous hair, and am perfectly satisfied of its singular efficacy. After an analysis of the composition of the powders, I can, without any hesitation, pronounce them the powders, I can, without any nestration, pronounce them perfectly harmless, and in every way infinitely superior to any article of the kind everoffered to the public.
